We ask that a parent or chaperone is available to help your student login correctly and to help maximize attention spans! We'll keep this class to no more than 6 students per instructor so we can all have a fun learning experience as we inspire the next generation of coders! This daily hour-long camp is a great place for little coders to get started and we only ask that the student has general familiarity with the computer keyboard. No actual coding experience is required. We'll be exploring two educational learning programs: Kodable and Lightbot, and by the end of the week, you and your student will be able to continue forward with the programs to keep the learning and fun going!

Students are then free to create their own video games, based on their specific interests. MindDance teachers provide inspiration and support as kids create and share their work with each other. The Scratch programming language is web-based, allowing easy access as we work from home. All campers will also receive access to a "class studio" to share their work, which students will retain access to following the camp.
